SAVAGE BULLDOG GOES ON RAMPAGE,

Owner of Animal Which Attacked Ernest L. Duvall Faces Arrest.

WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU.

ANACOSTIA, D. C., OCT. 17. A savage buildog attacked Ernest L Duvall, a young man living at 1269 Morse street northeast, as he was walking in Francis street, near the Hebrew Cemetery, beyond Congress Heights, yesterday. The bulldog leaped from yard at an English coach dog owned by Mr. Duvall, and which accompanied him. The bulldog severely bit the coac dog. Mr. Duvall tried to save his animal and the buildog turned upon him. He was bitten on the left hand. The police of the Eleventh precinct were notified of the occurrence last evening, and Policeman C. J. P. Weber made an investigation. He ascertained that the bulldog is owned by Thomas Branson, a resident of Francis street. Mr. Duvall urged that there be no prosecution, but the police decided, however, that a warrant against Mr. Branson should be issued. This action will be taken today. Mr. Duvall went to the office of his family physician in the city and received medical treatment.

Reorganization of the Meds Club of the Emmanuel Protestant Episcopul parish, at Anacostia, has been effected. The club participated largely in the social life of the parish a few years ago, but no meetings have been held for a long time. The men of the parish determined to place the club on a sound basis again. Officers elected follow: J. C. Winterwerp, president; Ralph Frisble, secretary; George Frazier, treasurer. The office of vice president was left unfilled for the present. It was decided to hold meetings on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

The ladies' guild connected with the Esther Memorial Protestant Episcopal Church of Congress Heights meets to-day at the home of Mrs. M. J. Fillius, in Nichols avenue. Plans for the organization's work for the coming season are to be made.

The women of the Anacostia Methodist Episcopal Church who are members of the Ladies' Aid Society have planned an unusual supper for tomorrow evening in Methodist Hall. It will be known as a "harvest home" supper. Mrs. A. B. Suit, the president, has called a meeting of the society for this evening in the church, when final arrangements will be perfected for tomorrow evening's feast.

Joseph Butler, a colored man, came a long way from the country in his wagon to attend church services in Anacostia last night, and while he was taking last night, and while he was taking part in the services some men stole a lighted lamp from him. Some boys followed them around the streets, but were stoned. Policeman J. L. Farmer pursued the three men who were in a wagon, along the Morris road. The men stole two more lighted lanterns from some building material on Mt. View place.

The police of the Eleventh precinct are occupied much of the time these days with the regulation of traffic in Nichols avenue. Roy Ball, of Oxon Hill, Md., and James Williams, of 910 Virginia avenue southeast, were two drivers who deposited $1 each at the Ana-Md. and James Williams, of 910 Vriginia avenue southeast, were two drivginia avenue southeast, were two drivging at the Anacostia station when arrested by Bicycle Policeman Harrover for driving on the wrong side of the street. Randolph Parker, of Douglass avenue, had his wagon tag on the wrong side of the vehicle, and having disregarded a warring from Policeman Horton, he was arrested and put up it as colalteral.

The police drill has been resumed in the Anacostia precinct, and each Wednesday the entire squad of footmen is put through the maneuvers on the field adjoining No. 11 station. Sergt Charles A, Stevens is the drillmaster.

The Brotherhood of the Garden Memorial Presbyterian Church will meet Friday night in the church building. A. B. Garden, the president, in the charcs A, Garden, the president, in the charcs from Atlanta, Ga. at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. G. J. Osterman, in Maple View avenue, Mrs. Hutcheson, formerly was Miss Leonard, long a resident here. Mr. Hutcheson resigned a position in the War Department in order to go in business at Atlanta.

Munsey Writer Tells of Capitol Notion Counter

In an entertaining article, "The Per-quisities of Public Life," by Irvin S. Cobb, in Munsey's for October, the writer says:

"We mustn't overlook the notion counter at the Capitol, either. The members don't, so why should we? Esmembers don't, so why should we? Especially as the said notion counter is a gracious and enduring boon to statesmen, their wives, families, heirs, and assigns. It contains everything you can think of that would properly come under the head of notions, and a great deal besides—all kinds of stationery, all kinds of typewriter and desk supplies, pocket knives, scissors, fountain pens, card cases, purses, wrist bags, visiting cards, business cards, and—sh-h-h!—even the kind of cards which run fifty-two to a set and may be used for playing old maid and other harmless games."

Lowa City Officials Holding Conference

DAVENPORT, Iowa, Oct 17.-Municipal problems of great variety are to be discussed by the League of Iowa Municipalities, which opened its four-teenth annual meeting here today with a large attendance of mayors and other officials of the leading cities of the Fractions of the leading cities of the State.

Pestures of the opening session were an address of welcome by Mayor A. C. Mueller of Davenport and the presidential address of Mayor J. R. Rector of Waterloo. The meeting will continue until Thursday.

Massachusetts W. C. T. U. Holds Annual Meeting

HOLYOKE, Mass., Oct. 17 .-- A large and enthusiastic attendance marked the opening here today of the annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Massachusetts. Mrs. Katherine Lent Stevenson presided at the initial session this afternoon and delivered her annual address, which was followed by the reports of the other officers.

At the succeeding sessions of the convention, which will continue until Friday, the prominent speakers will include Miss Flora E. Strout, recently from Japan, and Mrs. Frances E. Beauchann, president of the Kentucky W. C. T. U.

In a painstaking canvass of scores of Republicans in all kinds of occupations The Tribune correspondent found about as many La Follette as Taft partisans. Then there was a large number who said they had not made up their minds whether to vote for Mr. Taft or Mr. La Follette.

The Chicago Tribune, in an endeavor to analyze the impression that President Taft is making on the communities he visits, and in which he speaks, has detailed a special correspondent to follow in the wake of Mr. Taft's speechmaking tour and interview representatives of various classes as to the effect on the public mind of his presence and utterances. It is the aim that these dispatches shall be absolutely unblased, and they are prepared from and based upon indiscriminate interviews.

The Times reproduces the dispatch from Portland, Ore.

the three years of his Administration will be registered at the polls next April.

In one of the few Presidential primaries that will be held in the country Orests. Son Republicans will indicate on their ballots whether they prefer Taft or La Follette, or some other leader, as a party candidate fer the Presidency, while the Democrats in like insuner will designate a choice from the field of their candidates.

At the same time the people will elect the delegates to each national convention who will be pledged to vote as instructed by the primary.

What the verdict delivered by the Republicans in the case of President Taft will be is a matter of pure speculation, so far as present indications go, It would be hard to find a locality in which opinion of the President and his policies is more divided than in Portland.

In a painstaking canvass of scores of Republicans in the case of scores of Republicans in the lines of cleavage along which are the employed classes, which are more radical, with a pronounced learning to ward Senator La Follete and Woodrow Wilson. The President's enjoyment of the climate was dwelt upon by many of those the Tribune correspondent interviewed, their satisfaction being increased by the report that the weather was cold and gloomy in Seattle the day Mr. Taft was entertained there.

Factions Clearly Divided.

But the lines of cleavage along which political opinion divides in this State are deep and numerous. There are the business men who want a conservative government, and they favor Taft. There are the employed classes, which are more radical, with a pronounced learning to ward Senator La Follete and Woodrow Wilson. There are the farm are the employed classes, which are more radical, with a pronounced leating toward Senator La Folicte and Woodrow Wilson. There are the farmers, who were divided on reciprocity. There are the advocates of the initiative, referendum, and recall, who dislike Mr. Taft for opposing the recall of judges. And, conversely, there are thousands who condemn the Oregon experiment, and thus have been drawn to approve the President's stand on this question.

Finally, there are the Republicans who divide upon the estimate of the services of Senator Bourne in the upper branch Congress. Senator Bourne comes pretty close to being the paramount issue close to being the paramount issu-among the Republicans of the State

Here has been worked out most comprehensively the principle of direct legislation through the operation of the initiative and the referendum, also the model for the experiments of other States in seeking to check the recreancy of elected representatives. Here also the recall of all elective officers, including judges, may be found upon the statute books, although its power has never been invoked.

JUVENILE COURT'S UP TO HEAR DILLON

Judge De Lacy's "Bad Boys" Fond of New Officer.

Mischlevous boys whom Judge De Lacy had placed on probation gave an extra twist to their ties and a more vigorous shine to their shoes on their weekly visit to the Juvenile Court in the hope of making a good first impression on their new chief probation officer, John R. Dillon.

They went on Saturday to make their weekly reports in accord with the judge's belief that periodical trips to the court will keep them in mind of their promises to be good. They gathered again Sunday afternoon to hear their bi-weekly lecture on good citizenship.

The news that the Rev. Zed Copp was no longer their official godfather spread fast, and most of the boys were sorry. But they found a lot of comfort in the fact that "Big John" Dillon was to take the Rev. Mr. Copp's place.

They all like Dillon. He is a sort of big brother to all bad boys. A giant in statue and eminently qualified to play fullback at Georgetown where he attends law school, the probation officer is so good natured and chummy that all the youngsters take to him as a sort of boon chum and companion. Now that he is to occupy the platform and tell them how to be good citizens he has taken on added Architectural Club dignity in their eyes.

One of the reasons for Dillon's appointment, in addition to his good serv ice in the work of investigating home conditions, is his peculiar capability for handling children. The boys who visit him weekly look forward to the trip with pleasure instead of regarding it as a punishment. They are pretty sure to hear some of the Irish yarns Dillon tells and they are proud of their acquaintance with the big boyish-hearted chap.

"And then," said one, as if he had the clinching argument, "Mr. Dillon ain't no preacher."
